Vocabulary p6

Warmer
In pairs, students discuss the meaning of the unit title Family matters and what they think the unit is going to be about. Elicit ideas from around the class.

Suggested answer

Matters (plural noun) refers to a situation that someone is involved in. In this case, it means that the unit is going to be about situations related to the family. You could point out that there is a play on words here. The verb to matter means to be important so the title could also be read as Family is important.

Ages and stages of life

1 In pairs, students match the photos with the words and write down what ages (approximately) go with each stage of life. Draw attention to the example before they begin.

Key

All ages are approximate. Accept any appropriate answers.

- a child, 4–12
- b senior citizen, 65+
- c teenager, 13–19
- d middle-aged adult, 35–64
- e baby, 0–3
- f young adult, 20–34

2 Ask students to work again in pairs to put the stages of life in order, beginning with birth.

3 Play the CD for students to check their answers. Play it again and ask them to repeat the words.

Audioscript and Key

birth middle age
crud childhood old age
dead adolescence death

TEACHER DEVELOPMENT: PRONUNCIATION

Connected speech

When a word ending in a consonant is directly followed by a word beginning with a vowel sound, the two words are often pronounced as one word. Write old˘age on the board and drill the pronunciation.

The family

4 Ask students to write the three headings (Male, Female, Male or Female) in their notebooks and write each word under the relevant heading. Check answers by asking different students.

Key

Male: husband, stepfather, brother-in-law, grandfather, nephew, uncle, grandson
Female: daughter, aunt, niece, wife
Male or Female: cousin

Fast finishers

Ask students to add other family words they know to the lists (e.g. stepmother, sister-in-law, etc.). Encourage them to use the Macmillan Dictionary to find additional words (e.g. sibling, spouse, twin, etc.). Ask them to share their lists with the class when everyone has finished.

5 Ask students to read the descriptions and match them to the words from 4.

Key

1 husband 3 stepfather 5 grandson
2 uncle 4 niece 6 brother-in-law

6 SPEAKING In pairs, students look at the other words in 4 (and also the words added to the list by the fast finishers if applicable) and take it in turns to define a word for their partner to guess. Draw attention to the model dialogue and/or practise the activity in open pairs before they begin.
7 Students complete the sentences with the words in the box. Ask them to compare their answers in pairs before you check answers with the class.

Key

1 single 3 partner 5 One-parent
2 only child 4 divorced 6 born

8 LISTENING 1.02 Tell students they are going to listen to three people talking about themselves and their families. Play the CD and ask students to choose the correct alternatives.

Play the CD again and ask some comprehension questions:
How old is Joshua? How many brothers and sisters does he have? Who is very special to Joshua and why? How old is Olivia? What's the name of Olivia's cousin? How old is Jessica? How many children has she got? When did she get married?

Audioscript

1 My name's Joshua. I'm ten years old. I've got three brothers and three sisters. One of my sisters is very special to me. I think that's because she's almost the same age as me. She's eleven.

2 Hi, I'm Olivia and I'm fifteen. I'm an only child. My parents are divorced and I live with my father. I've got one cousin. Her name is Olivia too! We spend a lot of time together.

3 My name's Jessica and I'm 78 years old. I've got four children, six grandsons and six granddaughters. I love being with them all, it's great having a big family. And even after all this time, my husband is so important to me. We got married 55 years ago. Can you believe it? … 55 years, but it feels like it was yesterday!

Key

1 a child, big
2 a teenager, small, father, cousin
3 twelve, married

9b IN PRACTICE Individually, students make notes about their own family, using words from the page. Walk round the class, providing help if necessary.

9b In pairs or small groups, students use their notes to tell each other about their family. Focus their attention on the model dialogue before they begin.

Extra activity

Students draw a family tree and write a short paragraph explaining how they are related to each person, e.g. Sarah is my mother's sister so she's my aunt. Then students describe their family tree to a partner and their partner tries to draw it.

Reading p7

Recorded reading texts

The reading texts are recorded so students can listen to them as they read and these can be found at www.macmillanenglish.com/gateway. The track numbers are indicated in the activity notes below. This recorded material provides exposure to correct pronunciation, stress, accent and sentence rhythm.

Warmer

Write this statement on the board: Parents need to know where their teenagers are at all times. Ask students to discuss the statement in small groups and think of arguments for and against it.

Suggested answers

Arguments for: Parents need to know their children are safe. Some teenagers lie to their parents so it's important parents know the truth. If there is a family emergency, parents need to know where to find their child.

Arguments against: Teenagers need to have their own lives, separate from their parents. Teenagers need to learn to be independent and take responsibility for their own safety. Parents should trust their teenagers.

1 Tell students to look at the photos and note down what they see. Elicit the answers and ask them to predict what the text is about (spying to find out where people are).

Key

a jacket, a security camera, mobile phone showing a map
2 Set a time limit of two minutes for students to read the text quickly for gist. Then ask students to suggest a suitable title.

Recording: Unit 1 p7 Reading on www.macmillanenglish.com/gateway

Key

2 Protection 24 hours a day – is it a good idea?

Exam success
Ask students to read the information and discuss what they can do if they are unsure of the answer in a multiple-choice activity. Ask students to turn to page 150 (Reading: Multiple-choice activities) to check their answers.

Key

1 a 2 c 3 a 4 b 5 c

4 Ask students to read the definitions and match them to the underlined words in the text. Elicit the answers.

Key

1 extra-curricular 4 opportunity 6 message
2 mistakes 5 constant care 7 informs
3 online

FastFinishers
Students find other words in the reading text with the /aɪ/ sound (finding, high, inside, online, arrive, time, outside).

5 Speaking What about you?
In pairs, students discuss the two questions. Draw attention to the model dialogue. Encourage them to give reasons for their answers and provide as much detail as possible. Ask students to share the key points from their discussion with the class.

Extra activity
Ask students to write about the advantages and disadvantages of having a mobile phone, e.g. your friends and family can always contact you; people expect you to answer your phone 24 hours a day; you can get help quickly in an emergency.

Homework

Grammar in context p8–9

Present simple and present continuous

Test before you teach
It is helpful to test students’ prior knowledge so you can assess how much time you need to spend on the grammar activities in this section. Write the following sentences on the board:

Sshhh! Be quiet. John _______. (sleep)
John _______ eight hours every night. (sleep)

Ask students to complete them with either the present simple or present continuous form of the verb in brackets. Then ask students to write another two sentences using the same verb – one in the present simple and one in the present continuous. Monitor carefully to check each student’s knowledge of these tenses.

1a Give students a few minutes to read the sentences and identify the tense.

Key

1 present simple 3 present simple
2 present continuous 4 present simple

1b Read uses a–d as a class and provide further explanation and examples if necessary. Ask students to match sentences 1–4 from 1a with the four uses.

Key

1 b 2 a 3 d 4 c

Actions vs states
State verbs (love, like, hate, think, believe, know, understand, want, need) are not usually used in the present continuous because they describe states not actions. In 1a, sentence 3, think is a state verb (have an opinion) so must appear in the present simple. However, think can also describe a mental process, e.g. I’m thinking about going to Paris next week, and then it is used in the present continuous.

Other common verbs that can describe actions or states, depending on their context and use, include: be: I’m being silly. (action) I’m French. (state) see: I’m seeing Tom tomorrow. (action) I see what you mean. (state)
weigh: He’s weighing the bag. (action) He weighs 70 kilos. (state)

1c Students complete the sentences with the correct form of study. Elicit the correct forms and write them on the board.

Key

Present simple: studies; doesn’t study; Does . . . study
Present continuous: is studying; isn’t studying; Is . . . studying
TEACHER DEVELOPMENT: LANGUAGE

Present tense usage
Highlight the need for do/does for questions in the present simple and don’t/doesn’t for negatives. Remind students of the spelling rule for verbs ending in -y, i.e. the -y changes to -ies in the third person.

Students may get confused because in their language they use the present simple to ask about a particular moment. Ask students to translate Where are you going? and What are you doing here? to point out this difference.

Study skills
Discuss the question as a class. Ask students to turn to page 146 (Grammar: Using reference material) to check their answers.

2 Ask students to read the example sentence and find the corresponding person in the picture (the boy in the blue jacket). Then, in pairs, students use the verbs to make more present continuous sentences about the picture. Walk round, helping students and noting common problem areas. Elicit sentences from students and feed back on errors.

Suggested answers
- A girl is sending a text message.
- A man is running.
- Two friends are chatting.
- Five people are sitting on the grass.
- Two boys are drinking soft drinks.
- A girl is studying.
- The girl in the pink top is laughing.
- An old woman is walking (with) her dog.
- A boy is wearing a blue jacket and a white T-shirt.
- A boy is riding a bike.

Error correction and accuracy
Before pointing out errors, encourage students to recognise and correct their own mistakes. You can do this by asking a student to repeat what he/she has said, or by echoing what the student said and placing emphasis on the error. You can also reformulate the sentence and repeat it correctly. Students could create a Mistakes list in their notebooks to remind themselves of the errors they should try to avoid.

3 Ask students to look back at the picture on page 8 and complete the dialogue with either the present simple or present continuous form of each verb.

Key
- a is … doing
- b riding
- c takes
- d is … wearing
- e isn’t
- f wears
- g rides
- h is/s happening
- i are … doing
- j play
- k has
- l aren’t … wearing
- m do … know
- n Are … spying

Extra practice
Ask students to draw a horizontal line in their notebooks and write 0% at the end of the line on the left and 100% on the right. Write the following adverbs on the board: sometimes, usually, often, always, never. Tell students to write each word in the correct position on the line and write an example sentence using each adverb.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>0%</th>
<th>never</th>
<th>sometimes</th>
<th>often</th>
<th>usually</th>
<th>always</th>
<th>100%</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

5 Students complete the sentences with the present simple or present continuous form of the verbs.

Key
- 1 am/m looking after
- 2 are … shouting
- 3 works
- 4 don’t understand
- 5 Do … need
- 6 is lying

Spelling the -ing form
Remind students of spelling rules for the -ing form.

Verbs ending in *-ie: change the -ie to -y and add -ing, e.g. lie → lying, die → dying.

Verbs with one syllable, ending in one vowel and one consonant: double the final consonant and add -ing, e.g. get → getting.

Verbs ending in *-e: remove the -e and add -ing, e.g. have → having.

6 Students write questions for the answers. Draw attention to the example. Remind them of the word order for questions: QASV (Question word, Auxiliary, Subject, main Verb). Ask students to compare in pairs before checking answers with the class.

Key
- 1 What do you do on Fridays?
- 2 What is your mum doing at the moment?
- 3 Where do your aunt and uncle live?
- 4 Is your cousin studying at university?
- 5 What do your grandparents do in the mornings?
- 6 What do you and your family do at the weekend?

7 SPEAKING In pairs, students interview each other using the questions in 6. Encourage them to extend this activity by asking similar questions. Draw their attention to the model dialogue before they begin.

Homework
- Refer students to the Workbook, page 4.

TEACHER DEVELOPMENT: LANGUAGE

Fast finishers
Ask students to role-play the dialogue in pairs.

4 Tell students to find the words and phrases in 3 and associate them with the correct tense. Highlight the position of adverbs of frequency in the dialogue (before the main verb).
Developing vocabulary p9

Noun suffixes -ment, -ion, -ence

1. Students look at the words from the text on page 7 and read about suffixes. Provide further explanation/examples if necessary.

TEACHER DEVELOPMENT: LANGUAGE

Suffixes
A suffix is a letter or group of letters added to the end of a word to make a different kind of word. A good knowledge of English prefixes and suffixes will help students develop vocabulary without the need to always check their dictionary.

2. When you are happy that students understand the concept of suffixes, ask them to complete the tables. Once they have finished, they can check their answers by looking the words up in the Macmillan Essential Dictionary.

Write these questions on the board: Are your parents strict or easy-going? What jobs do you do in the house? How much pocket money do you get a week/month? Ask students to discuss in pairs and then call on different students to feed back on their discussion.

International cultural knowledge: British teenagers and their parents

1. In pairs, students read the statements and decide if they are true or false. Tell students to guess if they are unsure.

2. Students read the text and check their answers from 1. Ask them to find information to justify each answer.

Extra practice
If you feel students need more help with the vocabulary in the reading text, elicit the meanings of the words below. Alternatively, read out the definitions and have students find the words in the text: responsible for – in charge of something or somebody; recent – happening or starting a short time ago; to pay no attention to – to not listen to; problematic – difficult.

Suggested answers

1. It’s a television programme about British adolescents and discipline.
2. She’s the director of the programme.
3. They pay no attention to adults, don’t want to do well at school, think they can do what they like and are only interested in fashion and celebrities.
4. Parents give children everything they can. They give their children no limits or rules because they want them to be free. They don’t tell them to work hard because they don’t want their children to be stressed.
5. Teenagers have no cultural values and think that any discipline is unfair.
6. Problematic teenagers go to live with families in other parts of the world where parents expect good behaviour and hard work.

Speaking
What about you?
In pairs, students discuss the questions. Ask them to give reasons for their answers. Focus their attention on the model dialogue before they begin. Try to develop this into a class discussion.

Popular culture: ‘Girls just want to have fun’ by Cyndi Lauper

Warmer
Ask students to brainstorm free-time activities and write their ideas on the board, e.g. watching TV, playing basketball, going to the cinema, swimming, chatting online, playing computer games, etc. When you have a list of ten, ask students to order the activities from 1–10 (1 = most fun, 10 = least fun). Then call on different students to share their opinions. Finally, have a class vote to decide which free-time activity is the most fun.
Listening p12

Warmer

Ask students to think about their favourite meal. Write these questions on the board: What is it? How do you make it? Who usually makes it for you or do you make it yourself? When do you eat it? Where do you eat it? Who do you eat it with? In pairs, students ask and answer the questions. Ask different pairs to report back to the class.

1a SPEAKING

Give students two minutes to look at the photos and make notes. Then ask them to work in pairs and talk about what they see. Ask students to share their ideas with the class.

Describing a photo

For oral examinations, students are often asked to describe a photo. It is useful to give them a framework of fixed expressions and prepositional phrases that they can memorise. They should also remember to always move from the general to the specific, i.e. start with a general description of the situation before giving more precise details.

General:

This is a photo of a/some …, In this photo I can see …,
The photo shows …, There is/are …

Prepositional:

At the top/bottom of the photo …, In the foreground/background …, On the left/right/in the centre of the picture …, Behind/In front of/Next to the … we can see …

Other things to think about:

Who can you see?
What are they doing and what do they look like?
Where are they?
How are the people feeling and why?
When was this photo taken?

Personal reactions:

I think …, I imagine …, It seems to me that …, If you ask me, …

1b Ask students to read the questions and note down their answers. They then ask and answer the questions in pairs.

2 LISTENING

Play the CD for students to listen to a radio programme about family dinners and match the people with the situations. Tell students that there are two extra situations. Play the CD again if necessary, before checking answers. Then ask some comprehension questions to check students’ understanding: What’s Mike’s job? How many children has he got? What does Chris usually eat? Why do Sally and her sister have dinner late? Why does she think family dinners are important? How many people are there in Alice’s family? Why is Jennifer eating alone tonight? Why doesn’t anybody talk in Daniel’s house at dinnertime?

Further speaking

In small groups or pairs, students discuss the questions. Direct attention to the model dialogue.

Homework

Refer students to the Workbook, page 6.
Audioscript

Presenter: And today on the programme we’re talking about family dinners. Do families eat together these days or is the family dinner just a thing of the past? We wanted to find out what you think so we asked you to contact us. Here are some of the things you said.

Speaker 1: Hi, err, my name’s Mike. I think family dinners are a really great idea, but I’m a computer technician and I can work 70 hours a week. I travel all over the country and when I finally get home at night, my two kids are often already in bed. Sometimes my wife has gone to bed too and is fast asleep! It’s fine for the government to talk about how important family dinners are, but how can you have a family dinner when you get home late from work every day?

Speaker 2: Yeah hi, I’m Chris. Both my parents work so they’re never there when I come back from school. We never sit down and have a meal together. To tell you the truth, I don’t really have a proper dinner. I just go to the fridge, see what’s there and that’s it. I have a sandwich, a pizza or something like that. I just take whatever’s there and eat it on my own. I don’t mind.

Speaker 3: Hi there, my name’s Sally. Both my parents work and they usually get home quite late, but my sister and I always wait for them and then we all eat together. I think family dinners are really important. It’s a time when we all get together at the table and talk and find out what’s going on with each other. It’s so important for a family to talk, I think.

Speaker 4: Hello there. My name’s Alice and I’d just like to make a comment about family dinners. I’ve got two children and three grandchildren and we always eat together at the weekend, either on Saturday or Sunday. Everyone’s too busy to eat in the week, unfortunately, but we always make an effort at the weekend. We love eating together, even if it’s just once a week.

Speaker 5: Hi, I’m Jennifer. My family loves eating together and we try to do it nearly every day. And … well … actually, that’s why I’m calling. My parents have a meeting at school tonight so they usually get home quite late, but my sister and I always wait for them and then we all eat together. I think family dinners are really important. It’s a time when we all get together at the table and talk and find out what’s going on with each other. It’s so important for a family to talk, I think.

Speaker 6: Hi, err, my name’s Mike. I think family dinners are a really great idea, but I’m a computer technician and I can work 70 hours a week. I travel all over the country and when I finally get home at night, my two kids are often already in bed. Sometimes my wife has gone to bed too and is fast asleep! It’s fine for the government to talk about how important family dinners are, but how can you have a family dinner when you get home late from work every day?

TEACHER DEVELOPMENT: CLASSROOM TIPS

How to do listening activities

- Always give students a clear purpose for listening to motivate them. For example, if students know they have to do a speaking exercise on the same topic as the listening, they will probably pay more attention.
- Make sure the context is clear (describe the situation and topic) and encourage students to predict content from key words in the questions, visual clues, etc.
- Give students time to read the questions before they listen and ask if there is any vocabulary they don’t understand.
- With less confident students, it is a good idea to play the listening in short sections. After each section, ask students to discuss what they have understood in pairs or groups. Discussion in pairs is motivating, makes listenings less threatening and gives you more information about how much students have understood.
- If there is a difficult key phrase, pause the CD and see if anyone can repeat it. Write the phrase on the board and then play that section of the CD again before continuing.
- After the task is complete, give students a copy of the audioscript and allow students to listen again. This helps to reduce anxiety and confirms that they have understood.
- After the listening, have a class discussion based on students’ reaction to the text: Have you had a similar experience? What would you do in this situation? Do you agree with the speaker? Would you like to do this?
- For the CEFR dossier (see Unit 2, Teacher development box, CEFR Portfolios on page 45), students could record the listening activities they have done in class on a self-evaluation sheet. Ask them to write the subject, date and evaluate their progress:

  - I understood the first time I listened. 1 2 3 4 5
  - I understood when we had finished listening. 1 2 3 4 5
  - I understood after listening with the audioscript. 1 2 3 4 5

3 SPEAKING What about you?

In pairs, students discuss if they think it is important to eat with their family and give reasons why or why not. Draw attention to the model dialogue.

Grammar in context p12–13

Articles

1. Ask students to look at the sentences from the listening and complete rules 1–5 with a/an, the or no article.

   Key

   1 no article 4 the
   2 the 5 a/an
   3 a/an

2. Refer students to the Grammar reference on page 16.
TEACHER DEVELOPMENT: LANGUAGE

Articles
Remind students that we use _an_ before a vowel sound, not a vowel. For example, _university_ starts with the same sound as _yacht_ and so takes the article _a_.

TEACHER DEVELOPMENT: CLASSROOM TIPS

How to teach articles
Some general rules can be helpful for students, i.e. _a/an_ = one (of several/many); _the_ = you know the thing, or you are talking about something that is common knowledge. Alternatively, note that we use _a_ the first time something is mentioned and _the_ when something has already been mentioned. However, there are exceptions and teachers should encourage students to write new words with the article if appropriate, i.e. _the President of the United States_.

Also, let students know that the stressed and unstressed open and the jaw and the back of the tongue are down.

In the _Student's Book_, page 149.

Remind students that there are also two pronunciations for _a_:

- _æn_ when it is stressed and _ən_ when it is unstressed. Point out that to make the stressed sound, the mouth is wide open and the jaw and the back of the tongue are down. Also, let students know that the stressed and unstressed pronunciations for _an are _æn_ and _ən_. Refer students to the _Pronunciation guide_ in the _Student's Book_, page 149.

2a. PRONUNCIATION 1.05 Play the CD for students to listen and note the difference in pronunciation depending on whether _the_ is stressed or unstressed.

Key
_The_ is pronounced with a schwa (_æn_) before words beginning with consonants and with the _æ_ sound before words beginning with vowels and proper nouns: _When the_ is stressed, it also has the _æ_ sound.

TEACHER DEVELOPMENT: PRONUNCIATION

Stressed and unstressed articles
Remind students that there are also two pronunciations for _a:_ _iː_ when it is stressed and _ɪ_ when it is unstressed. Point out that to make the stressed sound, the mouth is wide open and the jaw and the back of the tongue are down. Also, let students know that the stressed and unstressed pronunciations for _an are _æn_ and _ən_. Refer students to the _Pronunciation guide_ in the _Student's Book_, page 149.

2b. Play the CD again for students to listen and repeat.

3. Ask students to write _the_ in the sentences that need it.

4. Ask students to read the text and choose the correct alternatives.

5. Students read the questions and write _a, an, the _or _0_ in each gap. Check the answers with the class before you continue.

6. SPEAKING Students use the questions in 5 to interview each other. Draw students' attention to the model dialogue before they begin. This is another excellent opportunity in the unit to monitor and assess students' oral ability.

Fast finishers
Students write ten sentences to describe what is happening in the family dinner cartoon on page 13 of the _Student's Book_.

Resource materials: See Unit 1 Grammar worksheet on page 178.

Extra activity
Ask the questions in 5 to the whole class and get students to vote yes or no for each one. Write the results on the board, e.g. Question 1: yes – 16 students; no – 18 students. Ask students to copy the results into their notebooks and write them up for homework. They can present the information however they wish, e.g. as text, graphs, pie charts, etc. They should also write about the conclusions they can draw from the survey, e.g. _The results show that family dinners are still very important to people in our class._

 Homework
- Refer students to the _Workbook_, page 7.
Developing speaking p14

Asking for personal information

Warmer

Ask students to write down at least three questions that ask for personal information, e.g. What's your name? Where do you live? What school do you go to? etc. Set a time limit of two minutes and ask volunteers to write their questions on the board. Point out any errors and encourage students to self-correct.

1. Tell students to complete the personal information file with information about either their brothers, sisters or their best friend, and about themselves.

2. In pairs, students look at the four personal information files and compare them to their own. Students should say which person they are most similar to and why. Draw their attention to the model sentence.

3. LISTENING Tell students they are going to listen to two of the teenagers in 2 meeting and talking at a party. Play the CD and ask them to decide which two people are talking.

Audio script

EMMA: Have you got any brothers or sisters?
OLIVER: Yes, I've got one brother.
EMMA: Me too. How old is he?
OLIVER: He's 22.
EMMA: Does he live at home?
OLIVER: No, he doesn't. He's at university in Manchester.
EMMA: How often do you see him?
OLIVER: About once a month, when he comes home for the weekend.
EMMA: That's good! I see my brother every day because he's only 14. What do you usually do at the weekend?
OLIVER: I usually go out with my friends on Saturdays and we sometimes play football on Sundays. What about you?
EMMA: My brother and I often go to the cinema on Saturdays. But I never play football because I don't like sport.

TEACHER DEVELOPMENT: PRONUNCIATION

Intonation in questions

There is a final rising pitch for a Yes/No question, e.g. Is your name Anna?, and a final falling pitch for a Wh-question, e.g. What's your name? Intonation helps us to communicate meaning, i.e. whether a situation is open (rising pitch) or closed (falling pitch). In students’ own language the intonation range may be narrower, so it is important to practise this.

6. SPEAKING In pairs, students read the completed dialogue in 4 aloud, paying attention to the question intonation.

Practice makes perfect

7a. SPEAKING Ask students to get into pairs and read the task. Remind them to use the dialogue in 4 and the Speaking Bank to help them construct their dialogue. For students who are less confident, photocopy the model dialogue below, and either read it aloud yourself or alternate the roles with you and a strong student. Then instruct students to read aloud in pairs, alternating between roles A and B. Then ask them to read it again, changing the underlined information so it is true for themselves.

7b. When they have finished, students change partners and repeat the role-play.

Model dialogue

A: Hi there. It's a nice party, isn't it? What's your name?

B: Yes, it is. My name's Sophie.

A: Hi, Sophie. My name's Jake. I'm a friend of Jill's.

B: Tell me something about your family. Have you got any brothers or sisters?

A: Yes, I have. I've got a sister. She's 17.

B: Me too. My sister's 16. I've got a brother too. He's only nine.

A: What do you usually do at the weekend?

B: I go swimming on Saturday morning and then I usually go to the cinema with my friends. What about you?

A: I go out with my friends on Saturday nights. I go to a BMX bike park on Saturday mornings.

B: What else do you do in your free time?

A: I play football, play computer games with my friends and go running.

B: You do a lot of things!
Using role-plays in class
Role-plays enable students to take on different personalities in various situations in order to use new language. The goal is fluency and the focus is on getting students to speak freely about a topic. Before starting, make sure students have clear instructions (demonstrate the activity if necessary), set a time limit and give students time to think about what they are going to say.

Error correction in fluency-based activities
Unlike accuracy activities, fluency-based activities require less error correction. Correcting individual errors on the spot may discourage students and make them feel inhibited, so it is preferable for correction to take place at the end of the activity. Be on hand during the activity to help with any language difficulties and note down both good use of language and problem areas. A chart with the following headings can be useful when monitoring: Grammatical errors, Vocabulary errors, Pronunciation errors, Good use of language, etc.

Go through the errors at the end of the activity, without mentioning whom made each one. Praise students who made good use of language and invite the class to give opinions or ask questions.

Exam success
Ask students how they can prevent the conversation from drying up in information role-plays. Elicit ideas and then ask students to check the answers on page 150 (Speaking: Information role-plays).

1 Students read the advert and decide what Alanna wants. Ask students if they are interested in contacting her and to give reasons why or why not.

Key
Alanna wants to find an international e-pal.

2 Students read the reply and decide if this person is a good e-pal for Alanna, giving reasons why or why not.

Key
She is a good e-pal for Alanna because they have a lot in common. She comes from a big family. She also likes music, reading and is interested in practising her English as much as possible.
